- Oxfam Novib conducted an online survey, using , Factsnapp, on public opinions related to the Dutch government's decisions in relation to the ongoing conflict in Gaza
- Respondents were asked for their level of agreement with 5 statements related to key issues, reflecting perspectives on international diplomacy, peace efforts, and humanitarian aid.
- A total of 1000 people participated in the survey.
- The sample was weighted based on age range, gender, and household category, providing a representative snapshot of the Dutch population (16+).

RESULTS

- 73% of respondents supports UN Ceasefire Resolutions:
 - 7 out of 10 respondents say that the Dutch government should vote in the United Nations for resolutions calling for a ceasefire in Gaza. (38% strongly agreeing, with 35% agreeing).
- 72% of respondents says the Dutch Government should respect ICJ and ICC Resolutions:
 - 7 out of 10 respondents believe that the Netherlands should respect and comply with the international law and the rulings of international courts (35% strongly agreeing, with 37% agreeing)
- 70% of respondents demands the Dutch government to call for immediate ceasefire in Gaza:
 - 7 out of 10 respondents say that the Dutch government should advocate for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza (36% strongly agreeing, with 35% agreeing)
- 64% of respondents says the Dutch government should continue supporting Humanitarian Aid to Gaza:
 - 6 out of 10 respondents say that the Dutch government should continue to support international aid organizations in Gaza (27% strongly agreeing, with 37% agreeing)
- 58% of respondents wants a Halting on Arms Exports to Israel:
 - 6 out of 10 respondents wants that the Netherlands stops exporting weapons to Israel (31% strongly agreeing, with 27% agreeing)
- Overall: Majority of respondents supports actions in favor of immediate ceasefire, international law, and humanitarian aid.
- The highest support is for NL voting for resolutions calling for a ceasefire in the United Nations.
- The lowest agreement levels are with NL stopping the export of weapons. However, the % of those who strongly agree and agree is still high, at 58%.
- The results suggest that Oxfam Novib's calls for action can be more successful with messaging addressing respect and compliance of international law and immediate ceasefire. The findings suggest that people care more about NL's actions or reputation in international institutions, than with the private sector (weapon's companies)
- Although support for humanitarian aid and stopping the export of weapons is relatively high, calls for action on these topics may be more successful if also linked directly/making explicit the connection of those two issues with the urgency of a ceasefire and respect/compliance with international law.
